

Pacific Standard

Sauvignon Blanc, 2019

ABOUT THE WINE

You don't need to fly to Europe for a delicate Sauvignon Blanc – just try this Old World-style masterpiece created in California in collaboration with acclaimed winemaker Charles Bieler. Pacific Standard celebrates the best of California by blending grapes from cool and warm climates, resulting in a fresh and versatile wine.

DID YOU KNOW?

Sauvignon Blanc and Cabernet Sauvignon grapes are related, and share a key characteristic: pyrazines. Pyrazines are a flavor compound also found in green bell peppers. Take a sip, you may pick up notes of bell pepper or jalapeño in your favorite Sauvignon blanc.

ABOUT THE REGION

This wine blends grapes from different regions to create a portrait of California as a whole. Grapes from cooler regions bring the racy acidity, and those harvested in warmer regions introduce ripe and luscious fruit flavors. The majority of grapes come from Lodi, with warm days and cool nights for balancing fruit flavors and acidity.
